The signage on the front of our college says Launceston College 1915

This is then a college with significant history – one that has contributed substantially to the educational culture of Launceston and the north of Tasmania.

Over just the last 10 years, approximately 1/10 of this site's educational history, over 5000 students have completed their year 12 to be part of our communities and communities around the state, nation and the world.

Launceston College is arguably a major organisation in the educational network of Tasmania and Northern Tasmania.

There would be few gatherings in this city that do not have alumni of Launceston College present – and those gatherings could be across the spectrum of community and business life because graduates from Launceston College have had access to diverse and rich curriculum offerings.

The capacity for students of Launceston College to pursue their professional/employment dreams and at the same time undertake study in areas of interest such as Music, Drama or Hospitality is a strength of this college and one that I know is valued highly by students.

In a time of change, as well as looking forward we should also look back and focus on the learning organisation elements that have stood a test of time. We need to identify those elements from the past that have resulted in significant student achievement and development – and ensure they are part of the new organisation's repertoire.

A restructure of Tasmanian Colleges and TAFE has opportunities for students and in a rapidly changing world we need to ensure those opportunities are accessible. Of particular importance is the development of a seamless transition through VET Certification and indeed to diploma.

We know however that emotionally and physically safe learning environments are critical for student success. We also know that for students to gain the optimum from their post high school learning they require a connection to the organisation – and this is heavily reliant on the student centered support offered our young adults by Launceston College staff.

Over recent years this level of support for students has developed significantly with enhanced academic programs, ongoing tutorials and a constant ramping up of the pastoral care and support program. Campus development ensuring that the physical environment is conducive to students' organisational connectedness has also been a focus for Launceston College.

In this respect next year our Television studio comes on line and we intend to progress further with the plans for the College Auditorium, further adding to the extensive facilities that make this college a college of opportunity for students.

Launceston College is constantly preparing for the future, but with an awareness of the responsibilities of our tradition.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Maintaining a vibrant SRC in a College is a challenge when students are only here for two years. Many suitable students who were involved in leadership in high school are looking forward to a break. Still others are determined to focus on studies and will not allow themselves to be distracted.

SRC in 2006 was small and consisted mainly of year 12s. Consequently there was no flow on from last year to this year. SRC was effectively started from scratch with an enthusiastic bunch of year 11s, one year 12 who was not involved last year and a teacher who is relatively new to the college and only had experience with High School SRCs.

For the first time since anyone can remember, co-presidents of the SRC are both year 11s. It's been a credit to both Frederick Rainbird and Demica Mitchell for taking up these leadership responsibilities and taking up the challenge of a very different school environment and working in a very different kind of SRC. As young adults they are expected to take far more responsibility for the workings of the SRC than they have previously. Another first may be if they successfully contest these positions in 2008 and serve as co-presidents two years running.

Other students in key positions have also made a difference. Natalie Szabo has maintained the treasurers position and has worked hard across a range of areas most notably the Ball. Lauren Thomas has been the ever reliable secretary and Samantha Adams has kept chocolate sales running along nicely as our major fundraiser. Not to mention 'the guys' who have got us through each and every event. Michael den Hartog, as staff co-ordinator has managed to maintain his sanity through the learning curve this year in a way which can only credit him not only as an awesome co-ordinator but also as a great bunny ears enthusiast. Sadly, next year the bunny ears may receive a miss.

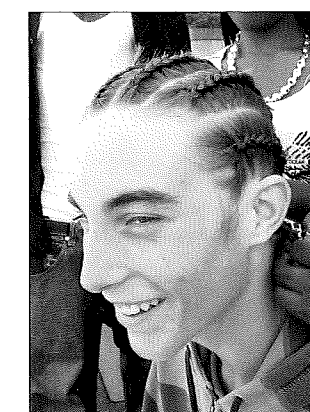

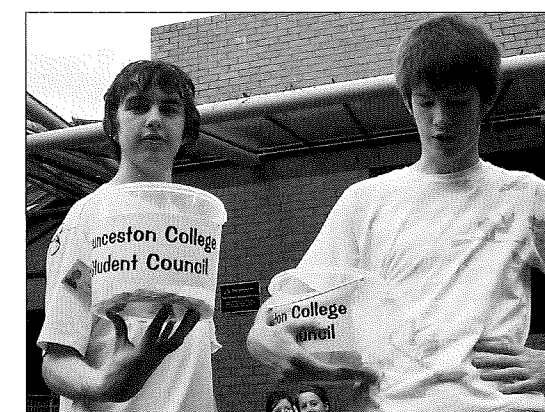

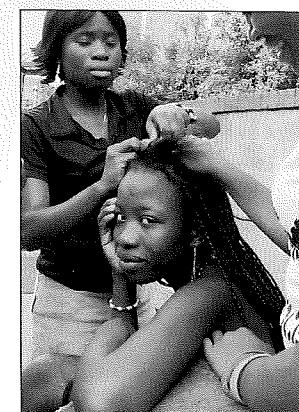

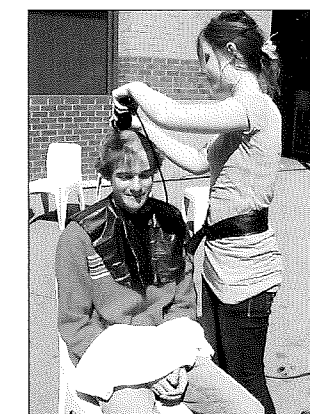

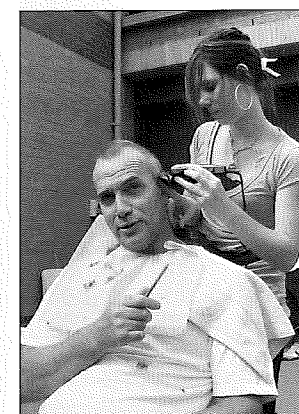

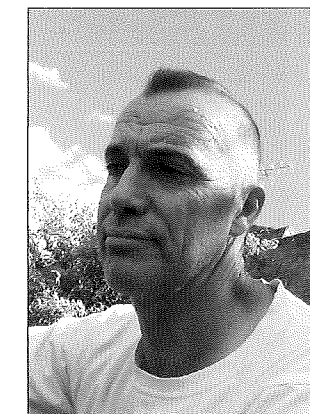

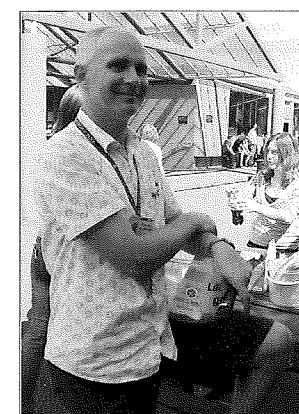

Plenty has happened, starting with "The Worlds Greatest Shave", a BBQ, a social, encouraging students to enrol to vote, meeting up with Newstead's Co-Presidents, the drinks stall at the Rock Challenge play offs, the exchange student trip, Laser Skirmish, School Association meetings, representing college students at various forums and meetings and the 'biggy' – the Launceston College Celebration Ball. Students have also had the opportunity to reflect on (our fav part!) and build leadership capacity through school based meetings and external forums like "Steps to the Future".

The SRC room has been a safe haven for members and their friends. It's become the hub of SRC activity and more! Plastic weapons with nerf ammunition have proved a real favourite towards the end of the year amongst the stress of the end of year. Safety glasses were worn at all times! In spite of this, there is still a wall of shame which every one of us has been placed upon at one stage or another (In particular Sammy?). Not to mention the old respect points system!

2008 will be exciting as most of the current SRC will stay on and build on what has been learnt this year. The first goal will be to broaden the SRC with a good group of new year 11s to ensure a more effective transition into 2009, a year that will prove challenging for college on a range of issues. The second will be to maintain sanity, keeping Michael on board and having another successful 'biggy'!

CHILDRENS SERVICES

VET Certificate II in COMMUNITY SERVICES - Children's Services

This year 16 students have combined study in college with going to work as child carers once a week. Term 1 found students in Child Care Centres such as Pilgrim, Stewart Services, Pedder Patter, MRC, Lilea Pad, Exeter, Toddle Inn, Cressy, TACCA, Newstead and 3 ABC centres. They learned about OHS issues, confidentiality and other policies. They learned about children's behaviour and ran play experiences and, although a couple decided child care work may not be the right path for them to follow, most were very successful and made great impressions on their supervisors. Some days started at 7am and finished at 2pm, some from 1pm to 6pm, others were 9am to 4pm.

Term 2 found most students working in Family Day Carers private homes from Cressy to Legana to Georgetown. They experienced going to Kids Paradise and McDonalds with a tribe of kids, ran activities with little groups and helped feed and put children to bed. A few students who are thinking of a University Degree in teaching were allowed to work in an Infant School. In all placements students are treated as a member of the staff team and are expected to be responsible and reliable. One student was offered paid holiday work and a couple of students are hoping to apply for traineeships.

In the classroom in J Block we had fun in play workshops and discussions and students often managed to wangle time to do their assignments in class.

It was great to have students volunteer to work at the Cancer Relay, St Giles Craft Fair, Kite Festival, Playgroup Week, the Teddy Bear Picnic and Year 11 Orientation Days.

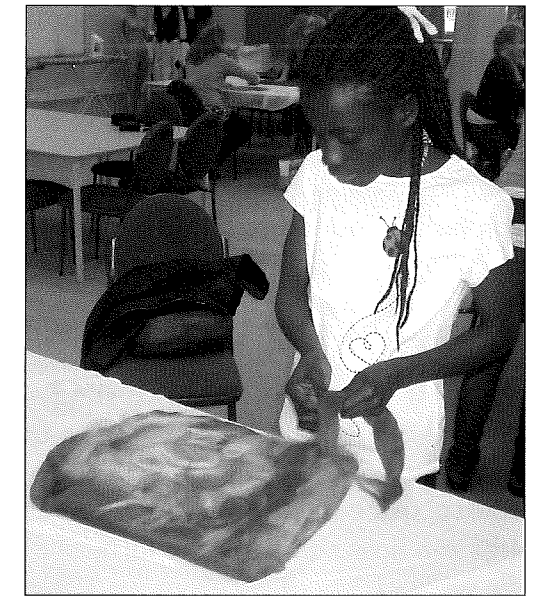

It is a varied program and although VET students do have to work hard both on and off the job and be really very well organised they seem to grow in self confidence and maturity and be so much better prepared for planning their future careers. 2008/9 should see at least 10 of these girls at TAFE and maybe 2 at Uni.

It is great to have a committed small group of students at this level of teaching and it is always sad to see them leave at the end of a year but it is so rewarding to visit child care centres and see so many of 'my' students working in them.

LIFESTYLE & FASHION/ FASHION FOR FUN

Lifestyle and Fashion/Fashion for Fun

The first brief this year had the students designing and making a garment that reflected fantasy. They had a budget limit of $15.00 and 4 metres of calico from which to produce the item. The other main briefs were based on learning more about commercial patterns, recycling garments or fabrics into useable items and making articles to enhance bedrooms. A large range of items were produced and a number of students used the fantasy brief and commercial pattern brief to make garments which they then entered in the Apex Teenage Fashion Awards, held in September.

Fashion for Fun students completed a range of craft items in Term 1 and worked on increasing their sewing machine skills during Term 2. In addition they were fortunate to have a student teacher from UTAS work with them on a unit of Felt making. Some very interesting effects were produced, which resulted in wearable and useable items being constructed.

From passionate love poetry through the ages to writing a resume; from taking the first steps in a new language to writing sophisticated essays in the mother tongue – we have it all in the English and ESL area!

My office is situated just inside the entrance to C Block Level 2, the main designated English area; each day has a passing parade of some of the more than six hundred students who study English and ESL at LC. Most come to work, some make it their off-line meeting place, others like to access one of the many computers located strategically around the block. I often ponder exactly why each individual is studying a particular course, what their aspirations are and, of course, whether we are meeting their expectations! If we don't, then it won't be from lack of trying; I am fortunate to work with a group of colleagues who are very much a team, and who strive to ensure the best outcomes for each of their students.

On these pages you will see just a few examples of work done by some of these six hundred students. However, the Level 5 English Communications course teaches us to look at the "silences" in texts – not just what is in a text, but also what the text creator has left out - and this text is no exception. Firstly, of course, space doesn't permit us to include all that we could; secondly, technology means that work in this area can now also be in the form of a web site, a Power Point presentation or video. Suffice it to say, that we see a variety of excellent work. Not only that, but we see significant individual progress at many levels: writing skills mature, confidence in speaking is developed, a creative talent revealed, practical applications of the subject begin to make sense, the capacity to participate in the community is enhanced. Rewards manifest themselves in a variety of ways – for our students and for us.

Paul Blest. AST3 English ESL and French.

Writer in residence Alan Taylor again joined us over an extended period to work with the twelve English Communications classes on their creative assignments.

English staff have been involved in joint professional learning sessions with their colleagues from Exeter, Kings Meadows, Prospect and Riverside – a main aim being to facilitate the transition from Year 10 to 11.

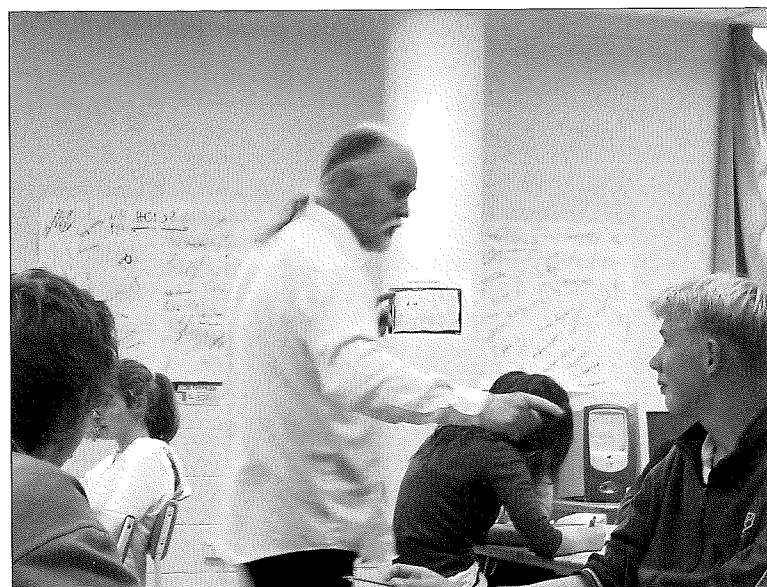

Sharyn Lawrence organised a highly successful writing competition for Year 10 students.

We are delighted to report that substantial painting work was done in the main English teaching area during the Term 2 holidays, making the area even more welcoming.

Excursions included: Agfest, Macbeth at the Princess Theatre, Woolmers Estate and Hollybank.

Launceston Competitions 2007:

Our past and present LC students almost completed a clean sweep of the major prizes in the writing section of the Launceston Competitions in March. Congratulations to Lily Noonan (1), Elizabeth Fluck (2) and Alex Brown (3) whose poems impressed the judge in the Open Section. In the Open Short Story section first prize was awarded to Natalie Maple with Shaun Collis taking the third prize.

Smiling

Lying on my back
in stripy p.j.s and high heels,
I find myself tired
- very tired -
of sleep. It's morning,
But far too early in my new profession to retire.

Searching for an idea
through crypts, anguis and teenage gall and guts, candles froth and splutter;
Stuck upon lusty
Roman calls for blood.

Scratching pens stalk through a Colosseum cesspit, our pages drenched in salmon foam and battle, sacrificial poetry –
it has all been said before.

Virgins, long knives, and soiled alters all writhe through dusty history yet tonight, in my galaxy
the moon is starting to show and I'm floating on albums lifted from my parents cupboard – Bowie, Pink Floyd, Rolling Stones –
my cup is deeply filled tonight life is frankincense and all those beautiful, poetical woes can't stop me smiling.

Youth is ambrosia
why spend it on mutiny demons, blood-clots, and arsenic?
when I stop searching everywhere I see grown-ups as children frowning.

Just call me Patricia Pan and if I'm an idiot, intrinsically immature well, at least I'm smiling.

i am a book

i am a book
of dog eared thoughts and roughly printed fonts
i am a compilation of confused endings and full stopped sentences my inkly paper heart is filled with words for wanderers and sleepy fingered hands
i live in the back of the library my neighbours are thick paged volumes and astrology and quantum physics people read me when they're lonely i'm a quick boredom fix my existence is mapped out by routine

i am picked up skimmed through replaced
picked up skimmed through
replaced

i keep insomniacs warm at night i'm the book that everyone's best friend owns but no one really understands i am just a catalogue of facial expressions and unsure punctuation
they tried to re-bind me like a magazine but my pages didn't fit i'll be sold at the op-shop and recycled as fuel for lounge room wood heaters i'll be torn to pieces and incinerated page by page
a new routine
i am ripped apart scrunched up burned
i'll keep empty lounge rooms warm at night

Gino's Weightlifting Career

"I found something I was really good at and I found life long friends"

Recently I interviewed Gino Frantangelo about his career in Olympic weightlifting. His career in weightlifting lasted for 15 years and included competing for a medal in the Commonwealth Games. Gino started out weightlifting for the purpose of supplementing his strength for judo. He enjoyed individual sports best because he knew if he put in the effort he would reap the rewards or be the one who had to deal with a bad result.

Gino learned to overcome his fear and doubts through his sport.

When asked about his diets he said, "Eat carbohydrates the night before an event and carbohydrates in the morning of the competition for energy."

A sporting competition has many pressures; for Gino, the Commonwealth Games had the most pressure because, "You're going for a gold medal". According to Gino, the world championships and Olympics are in a totally different league. He has travelled many times overseas to European countries, the United States of America and to the Pacific. His favourite country is Hungary.

Gino has retired from competing but he still likes to keep fit by weight training twice a week. He has since changed his career. He is now a physical education teacher.

He currently works at Launceston College. When asked why he became a teacher he said that he liked Sport Science and the physical areas of teaching.

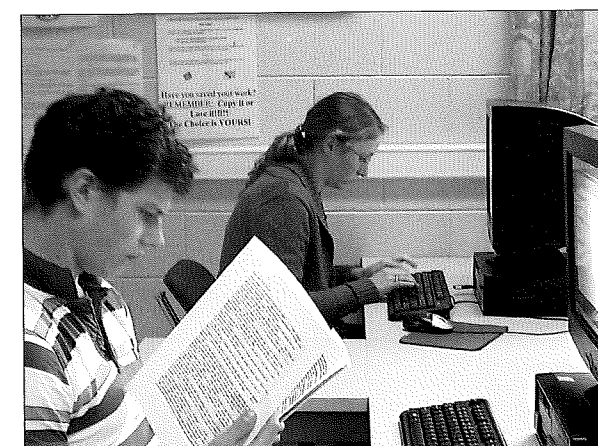

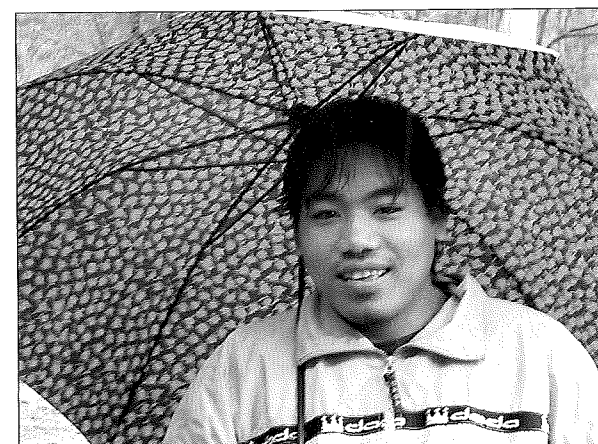

He has three main heroes in his life. First a Russian weightlifter called David Rigert. In Gino's words, "He was built like a Greek statue". David Rigert broke 76 world senior records in the 90kg class.

Gino's other heroes are his parents as they came to Australia to build a life for the Frantangelo family.

"I learned to overcome my fears and doubts."

Gino's advice to all the newly aspiring sports people is to; "enjoy the journey, the end result isn't as important as the effort that goes into the journey. Overcome your obstacles and you overcome yourself".

Le francais

This year at LC there have been 3 French classes: a Level 3 beginners, a large Level 3 night class and a Level 5. The dedication and commitment of the level 5 students is remarkable and was reflected in outstanding TCE results last year. Students in all classes worked hard to cover the requirements of their demanding courses and made excellent progress but there was always time for fun, music, eating and other culturally-enriching activities. French was celebrated and showcased on Global Gourmet day and Bastille Day.

Pierre, an exchange student from France, was a delightful addition to the level 3 class in Term 2. Felicia from Sweden, Sue from Germany, Julia from Germany and Dee from Canada were all welcome newcomers to the level 5 class.

French teacher, Cheryl, was fortunate to spend 5 weeks of long service leave in France in May-June and returned with much enthusiasm and many stories to share.

We are so fortunate in all classes to have students with French connections or heritage and recent or imminent travel experiences.

French is alive and well at LC and opening up the world to many students.

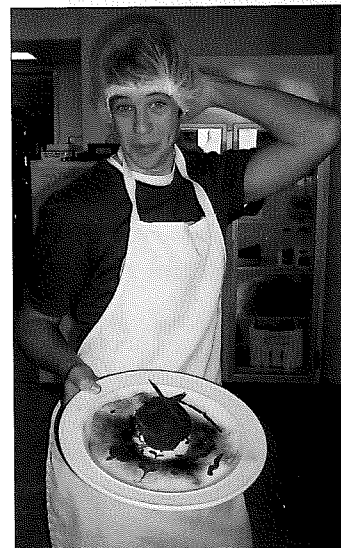

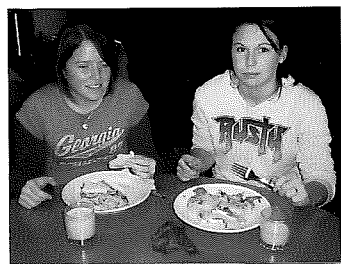

Food Studies 5

Food Studies Level 5 students have had another jam packed year making discoveries about food including; what's good for you and what's not, why some foods are trendy, how to cook the perfect steak and why Australians eat the foods they do.

With 25 to 50 new food products appearing on supermarket shelves each week students have delved into this highly lucrative industry and discovered along with the benefits, some disturbing facts about the claims made by the marketers of some of these products.

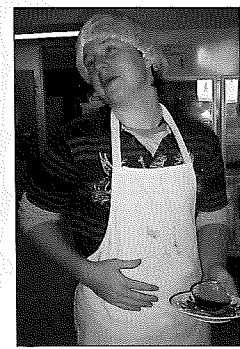

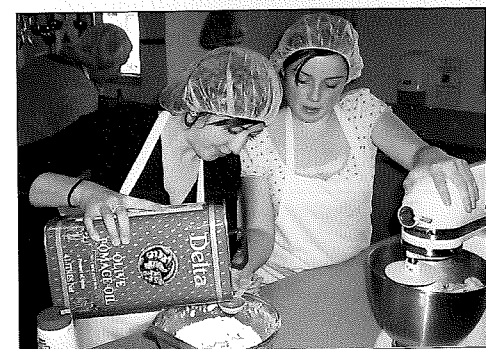

Highlights of the year have included the numerous opportunities to experiment with food and participate in group activities to plan and prepare nutritious food for invited guests and of course Wendy's interactive and fun revision games.

Food Studies 3

Food studies students have the opportunity to develop their practical cooking skills as well as learning about basic nutrition, health and food safety requirements. A unit of study was done on food from other countries and this culminated in the College's Global Gourmet day which provided students from right across the college the opportunity to sample foods from other countries. International students joined in with cooking providing authenticity and generating interest across the college

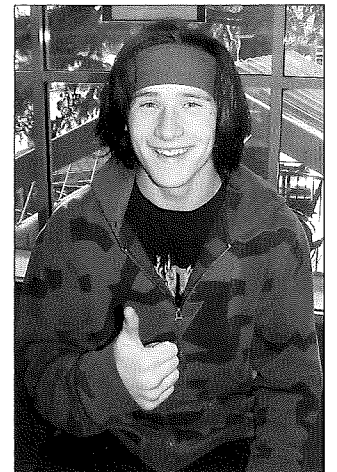

Students cooked on a weekly basis and covered areas such as confectionary, including a visit to a chocolate factory and a picnic as part of cooking for special occasions. From here some class members will be undertaking the VET course in 2008.

I find the adage: "Time waits for no man" all too true when I look back on the year gone. Students time at the college goes quickly and in that time the staff not only endeavour to impart information into their lives which will prepare them for the years ahead, but also wisdom and morals in how best to use that information to further their careers and develop their character.

In the role of chaplain I have worked alongside staff and students (who make their own contribution to our lives) to build rapport and show a real empathy for them. This has been done in various ways:

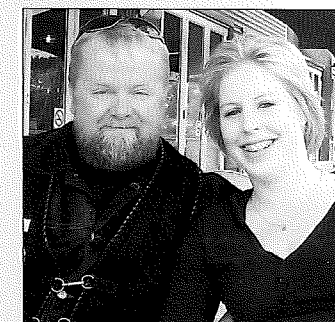

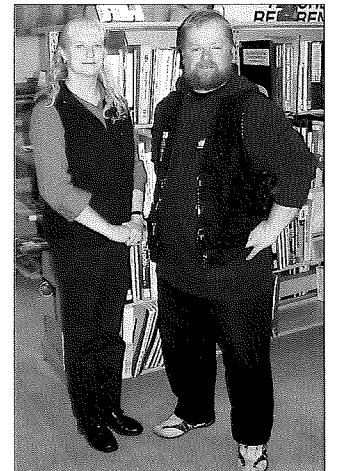

- doing an interview for an assignment
- burning music .CDs,
- helping with the serving of food at Global Gourmet Day
- having my head shaved for "World's Greatest Shave"
- fund raising for the Leukemia Foundation held by the S.R.C.;
- talking with the students about their studies, home life, plans for the future;
- mentoring and showing a pastoral care for their well being and involvement in the community.

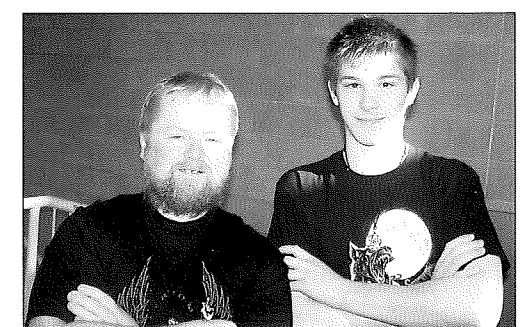

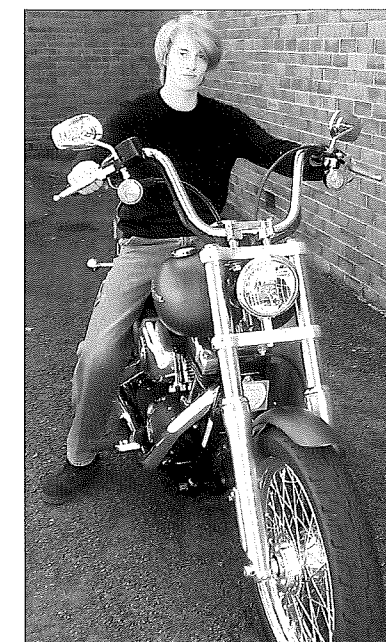

Of course there has also been answering any questions they may have about religion and spirituality.

For the Christian group Theo's Clan, (Theo is Greek for God) I have watched the numbers grow from only two or three to where students know they can attend the meeting and not be coerced or badgered into making a religious decision. We have meet weekly alternating from prayer, Bible studies, to just fellowship over lunch. It's been a huge privilege to watch them mature and be able to offer advice, support and encouragement into their lives alongside the work of other support staff – which in turn do an amazing job. I'm particularly proud of the group's efforts with "TEAMchallenge". which is an event involving two other groups of people where we interact with each other as well as being set tasks to interact with the community at large: in real and productive ways. One of these tasks was fund raising to cover the costs of the events Launceston College students raised an amazing $504 to date, way above the other teams Our team consists of around ten people.

For me the greatest reward is not only being a part of the students' lives but hearing the unexpected compliments of: "It's like having a second dad to talk too" and "I don't know what I'd do without you." The students go from here with my prayers and thanks for enriching me so much by letting me be a part of their lives.

Students taking subjects in the maths department are always being thoroughly prepared to achieve the personal goals they have for this learning area. 2007 has certainly been no different, with the expectation that personal and individual success will be realised for most students. Student success has been supported by an enthusiastic and competent group of teachers that make up the maths team.

Maths Methods 4, Maths Methods 5, Maths Specialised

In the pure strand of maths subjects students have worked hard towards improving and expanding their ability to think mathematically. A broad range of fascinating content areas have been covered. This will not only help them attain a good result, TE score and prospective university placement, but a great sense of satisfaction and hopefully, enjoyment as well.

Maths Applied 5, Maths Applied 3/4, Maths at Work 2/3

In the applied strand, students are consolidating maths skills to in keeping with the goals they have personally set. They enjoy experiencing the many practical and significant applications of maths in the real world. Students are encouraged to be as motivated as possible across all the topic areas covered. Maths Applied 5 will be excellent preparation for students going on to university and requiring a general maths background.

Competitions

Maths competitions are a great way for students to expand mathematical experiences, get feedback on their skills and gain the enjoyment of successfully completing problems and challenges. The kinds and names of the various competitions are listed below with the successful participants listed.

Skills & problem solving

International Competitions & Assessments for Schools (ICAS) – Mathematics
High Distinction: Sarah Steel. Distinction: Anthony Nelson, Nick Hamilton, Dylan Hudson, Michael Beg and James Clark. Credit: Zhuo Chen, Xiao Han Ning, Stuart Paul, Patrick Russell and Tai Yu Jin

Problem solving

The Tasmanian Mathematics Competition: Dylan Hudson excelled and gained an Outstanding Award, putting him in the top 10 competitors in the state and consequently rewarding himself with a cheque for $25.

By invitation only, extended problem solving

The M L Urquhart Competition: The college was represented by: Ji Yeol Yang, Jae-Yun Heo and Dylan Hudson

Skills & problem solving

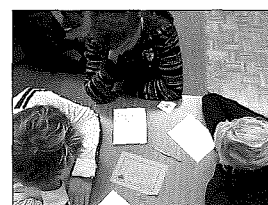

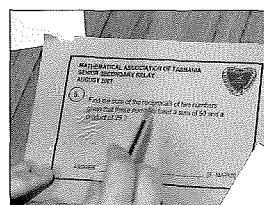

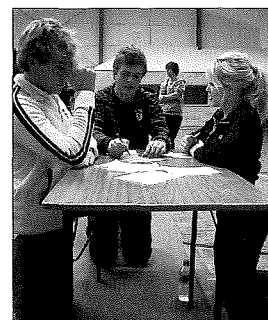

The Australian Mathematics Competition for the Westpac Awards Distinction: Kieren Mitchell, Sarah Steel, Venissa Jensen, Edwin Towns and James Clark
Credit: Dylan Hudson, Stuart Paul, Anthony Nelson, Nelson Brown, Nicholas Smith and Michael Beg

Team problem solving events

Maths Relay Third place in the regional competition:
"Team B", Sarah Steel, Robert Johns and Xiao Han Ning.

National Numeracy Week

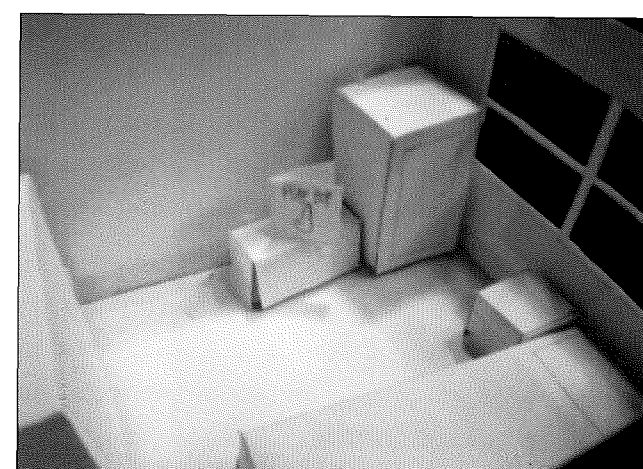

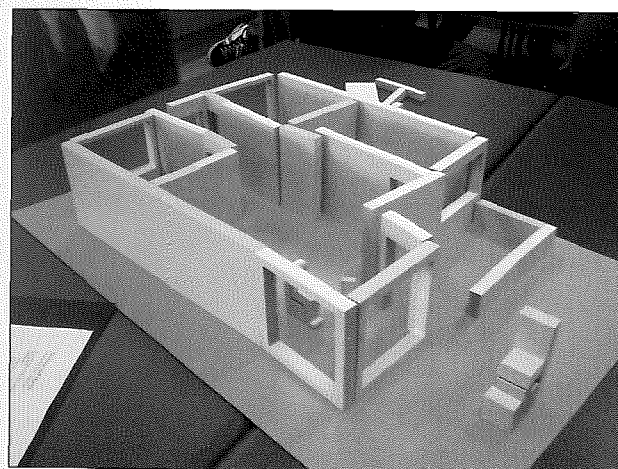

In 2008 the week was held from the 3rd to the 7th of September. The majority of students had the opportunity to participate in a small test covering basic numeracy skills. It was an opportunity to raise student awareness of numeracy generally, but also of their own numeracy specifically. There were many sighs and groans when the correct answers were given. It seems that even though students often have the skills, they are simply not practised enough to ensure speed and consistent accuracy.

Housing and design students have;
Looked at housing options and the Hotondo display home at Prospect

Made sketches, models and plans of houses

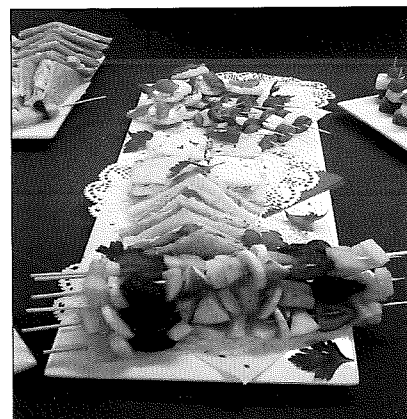

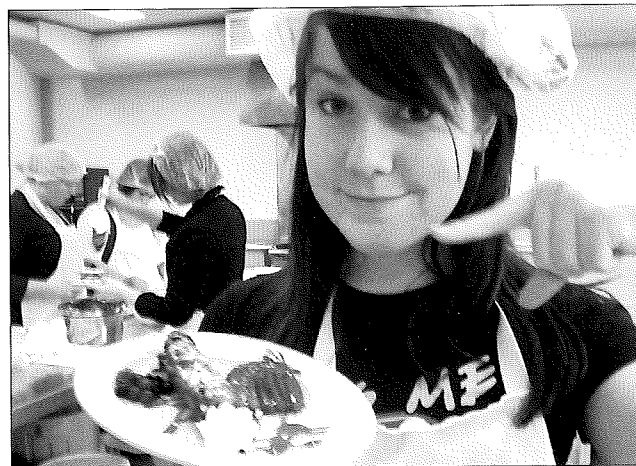

Looked at housing styles and construction techniques

Looked at passive solar and energy efficient design and many other housing related issues.

CATERING DANCE

Catering and catering management students at work in the new look Elcies restaurant. Back of house duties of preparing, cooking, plating up and serving delicious food to Elcies customers.

Front of House students made coffees etc used the cash register and provided excellent table service

Yet again, it has been a fun-filled year in the dance department. Students enrolled in the Level 3, 4 and Pre-tertiary classes have been pushed to the limit and have enjoyed the results.

The Launceston competitions gave the dance classes a fabulous opportunity to really shine. They gained 1st place and three Highly Commended awards. Well done, girls!

Justin Groves was selected to take part in the TasDance Annual Touring Schools' project which was a huge success. Justin had to audition and then spend 10 days with other students from around the state creating a 20 minute dance piece. This year's piece was titled White Light, and looked at the issues surrounding Antarctica. Justin was a stand-out performer and did himself and the college proud.

The Term One Performing Arts night was held on May 29 at the Earl Arts Centre. This was a fantastic evening, which showcased the exceptionally talented students we have here at Launceston College. This event allowed the students to display their choreographic works, gaining extremely valuable performance experience, whilst providing the community with an understanding of what the College dance program has to offer.

Term two saw the Level 5 students preparing for their mid-year exams. The students had to prepare a group piece. The level of skill was just fantastic and it really showed how hard the students have worked throughout the year. A big thank you must go to Liz Bennett and Sally Snell for helping to assess the student's practical exams. Although a daunting experience for the students, it is invaluable to have other teachers assess their work and provide written feedback.

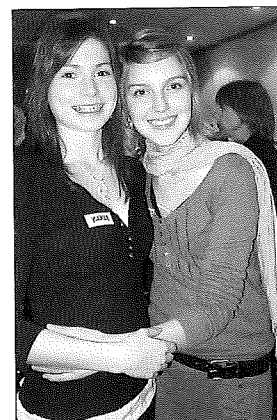

Term 3 saw all students preparing for the 'Final Fling'. This was held at the Earl Arts Centre on October 30th and was a chance for the level 5 students to showcase their exam pieces in front of a supportive audience before their examinations the following morning. The Level 3/4 class performed a contemporary group piece which they had been working on for the past few weeks.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

POLICE IN SCHOOLS

International Students have been involved in a range of activities throughout 2007. These have included A Welcome Dinner, Agfest, delicious Morning Teas in Elcies, Global Gourmet Day, Intercollege Day, Maths Competitions, Esk Band, a Cocktail Party for French students during Term 2, Mid Autumn Celebrations, a Tassie Tour to Cradle Mountain and the West Coast, with members of the SRC - thanks Tom, Demika and Jarryd - and of course, the College Ball!

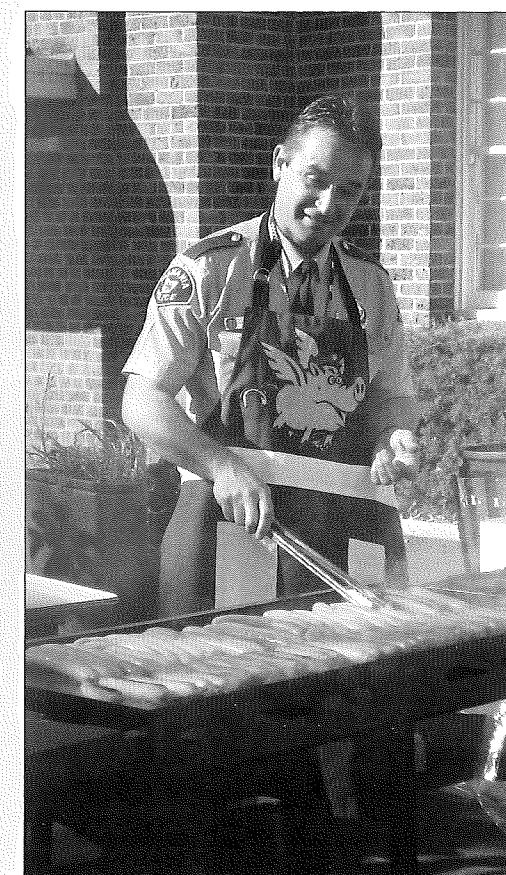

Constable Steve Bauld returned to the college for his second year as our police officer in his role in the 'Police in Schools Program'.

Steve attends the College on a daily basis for 4 hours. You will find Steve regularly roaming around the College grounds and Royal Park in an effort to prevent unlawful behaviour and help promote a safe learning environment for students and staff.

Steve is frequently utilised by staff and invited into the classroom to speak with the students.

As part of the student support team, Steve can be found in F block where he shares an office with the College Chaplain.

ROAD SAFETY WEEK

We had a fantastic week of activities, a forum, guest speakers, displays and a competition, all focused on Speed and Inattention.

The week was a joint effort between LC, Tasmania Police, Launceston City Council and the Department of Infrastructure, Energy & Resources. Other service providers visited, provided information, resources and displays and spoke to students.

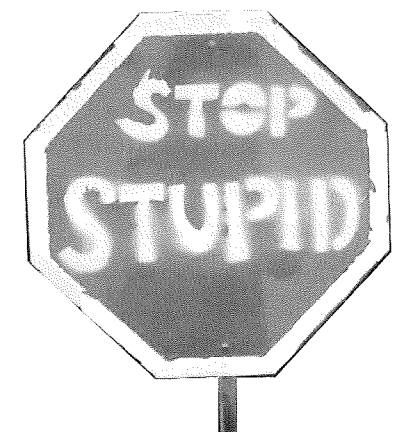

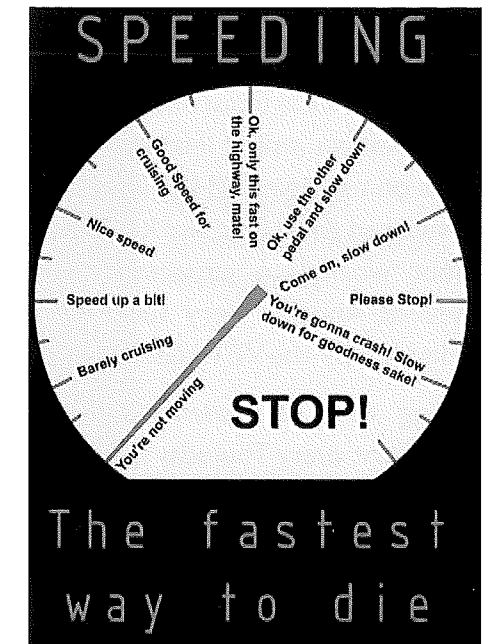

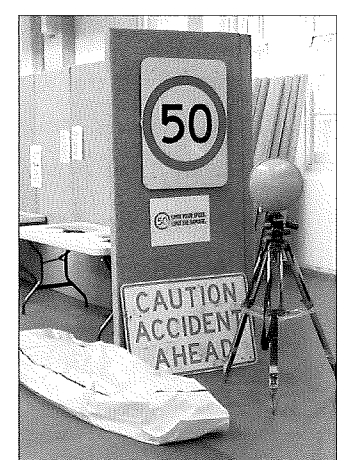

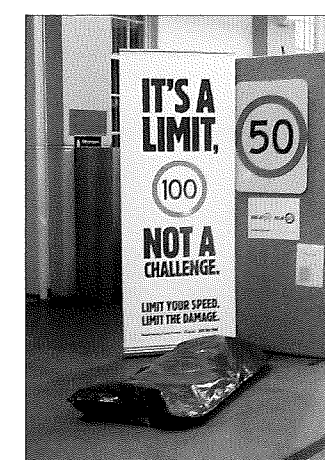

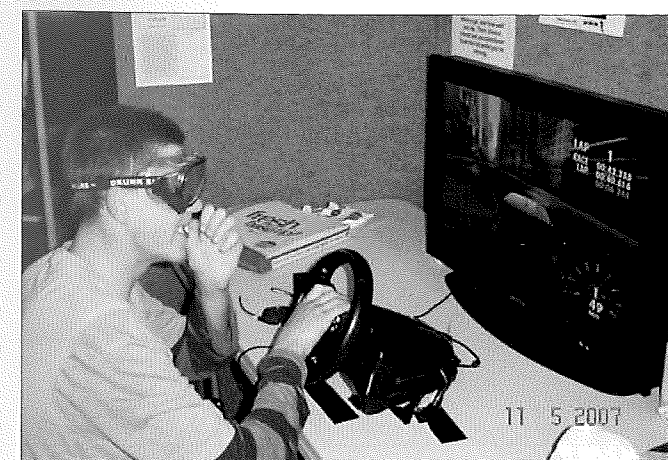

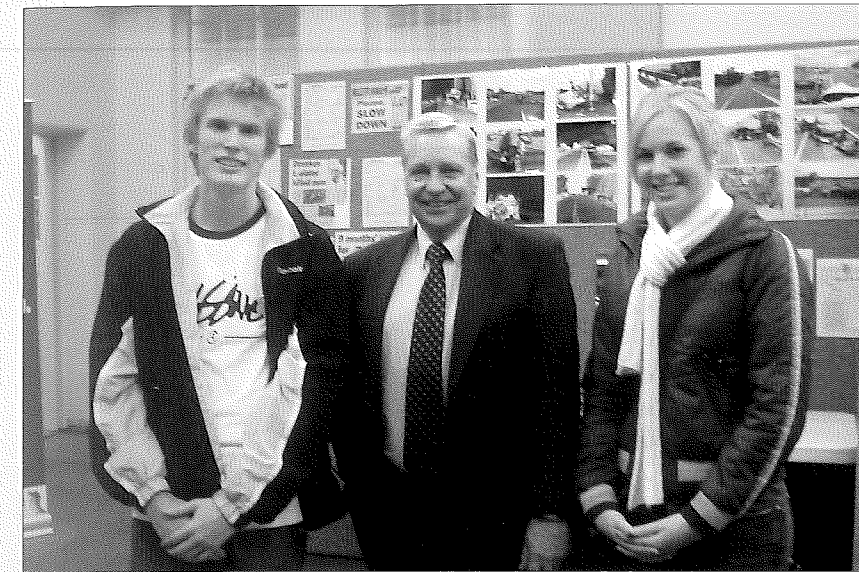

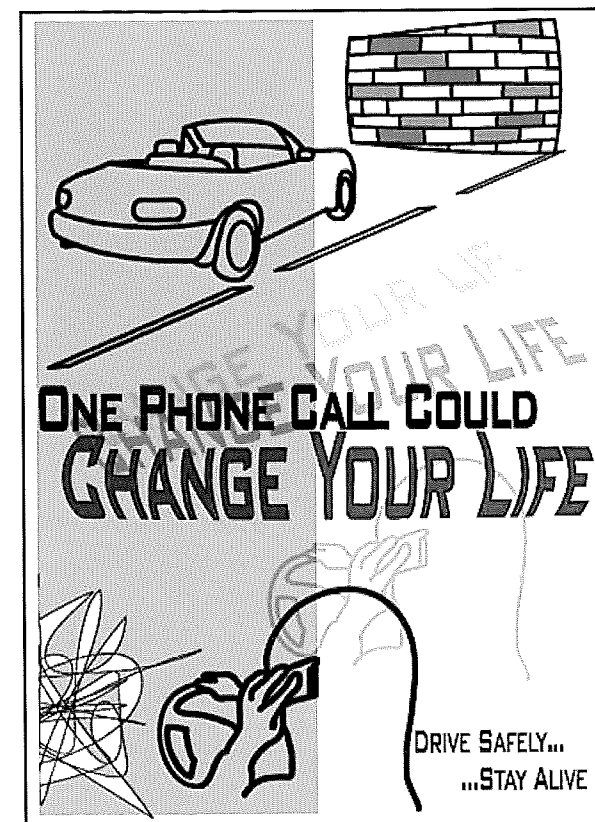

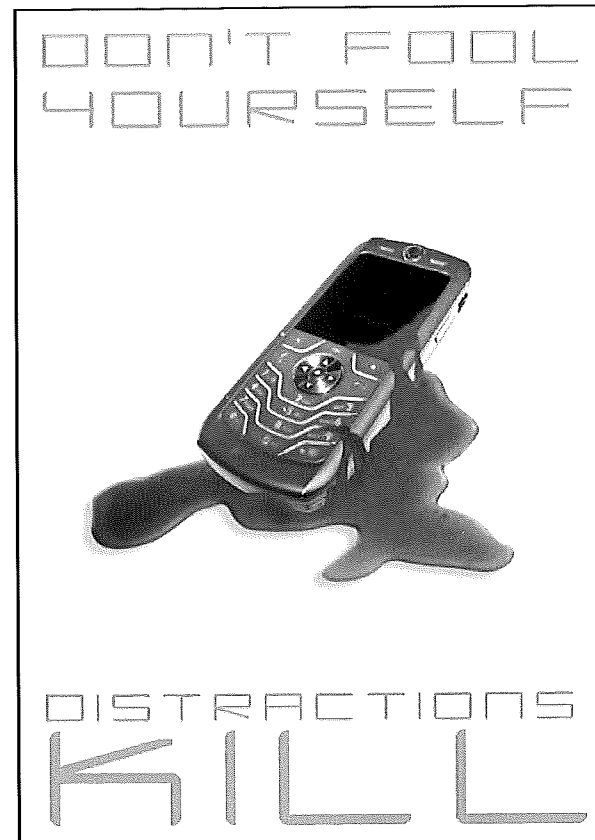

Hard-hitting ads were run, there was a road rules computer program, and an X-Box driving game. The main feature was the stopping distances activity, with 'Rhonda the Honda' showing what can happen in an intersection smash. The car was provided by Southern Recycling, and it was really in a smash – we used a forklift to simulate the damage.

The Minister for Road Safety, Mr Jim Cox, visited the display and met some students, as well as choosing his favourite piece entered in the Arts competition. He also heard the community service announcement for Radio created by two of our students, and was so impressed he suggested it should be run on all local radio stations.

Road Safety Week had excellent coverage on all TV channels, the newspaper and ABC radio, including Radio National! Our students certainly learnt lots about road safety, and LC received great recognition for this great initiative. We're hoping other Colleges will take on the idea and do similar activities.

The organisers were very happy with the support from students & staff – a huge 'Thank You' to everyone who helped make it such a success.

VET HOSPITALITY COMMUNITY SERVICES

The VET Hospitality students have had a very productive year. They commenced the course with a combined colleges (LC, Newstead and St. Patrick's) induction day at the Hotel Grand Chancellor. This gave them an insight into the hospitality industry with a particular focus on managing OH&S issues in hospitality establishments. They completed their first work placement in March, gaining knowledge about workplace expectations, shiftwork the repetitive tasks involved. Another very successful Global Gourmet day was co-ordinated by the VET class again this year.

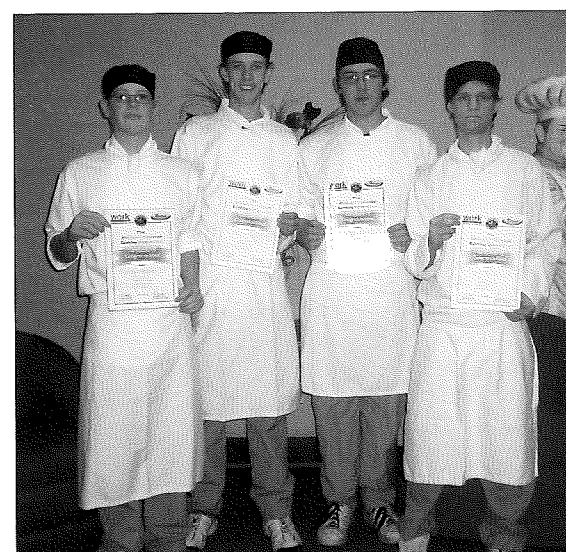

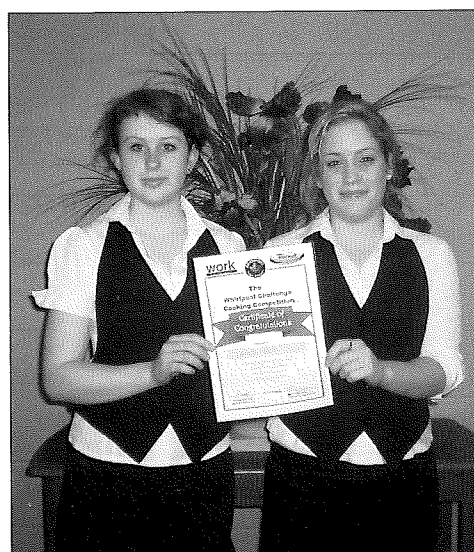

During term 2 students again opened our refurbished Elcies Restaurant every Thursday lunchtime, with bookings of 40 - 65 every week. This second work placement gave them all the full range of restaurant experiences from preparing and presenting food, preparing the restaurant, serving food and beverages and the cleaning of the work environment. Students also entered the 2007 Whirlpool Cooking Challenge, with 2 teams in the grade 11/12 cooking section and 2 individuals in the espresso making competition. Our team of Joseph Chequer, Callum Broomhall, Leigh Grainger and Jack Gibson won the event with an entrée of Venison with Mountain Pepper and Blueberry Sauce and dessert of Mixed Berry and Apple Parfait with Leatherwood Chantilly Cream. The students had 45 minutes to prepare and present their 2 courses. Two serves needed to be prepared – one for judges to sample and one for public display. The prize for this was a $1250.00 dishwasher.

Our two Front of House students took first and second place in the school espresso making competition; Kalinda French first with Anika Sall second. First prize a gift pack to value of $200 and second $150. Congratulations to all who participated, a great experience.

In addition Jessica Rapley one of our Front of House students was a finalist in the Tasmania Training Awards for the VET is Schools category. She represented the College in an outstanding way at the Awards dinner in front of 600 guests at Wrest Point on 31st August.

Students completed their third work placement at local Hospitality establishments in October.

It is a pivotal part of this course to have the support of many local businesses and we thank them for their continued involvement in the VET Hospitality program.

We have enjoyed this year, which has included the development of some very good and close friendships, had lots of fun, eating, drinking and.....(yollie). Apart from this we have learnt a lot about aged care and working with people with disabilities in the community and organisations. We changed continence aids on each other, cleaned teeth and fed each other and discovered how difficult access around Launceston can be in a wheelchair. This fun role playing gave us an insight into issues faced by those for whom we cared for and worked with on prac. placements. A great year.

今年の日本語のクラスには せいとが20人ぐらいいました。韓国人やマレーシア人や中国人やオーストラリア人でした。フランス人もベトナム人もアメリカ人も来ました。おもしろい人に会うことができました。

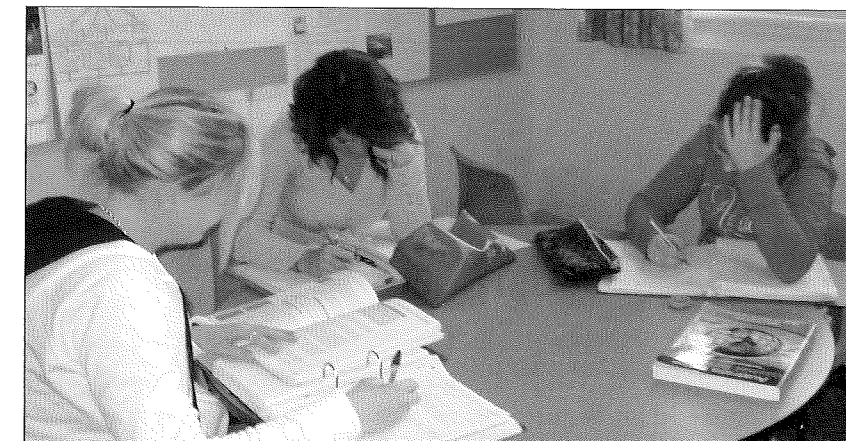

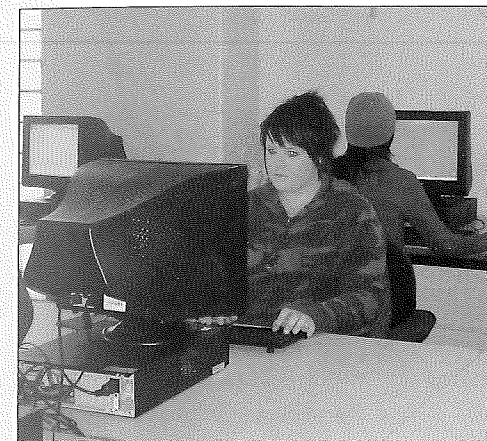

毎日 いっしょうけんめいに 漢字をなったり 会話をれんしゅうしたり テキストを読んだりして 日本語をべんきょうしました。ちょっと むずかしかったです。でも おもしろかったです。

日本のアニメを見たり 友だちと 話したりして たのしかったです。ある日 学校のキッチンで いっしょに すしを たくさん つくりました。おいしかったです。

日本人のあさひさんは クラスに来て いろいろおしえてくれました。しゃみせんを上手にひいて せつめいしてくれました。

かいぜんてっばんやきとゆうレストランに行きました。おはしで てりやきチキンやごはんを食べました。まっちゃアイスクリームはおいしかったです。

来年 あるせいとは もっと 日本語をべんきょうするつもりだそうです。みなさん、がんばってくださいね！

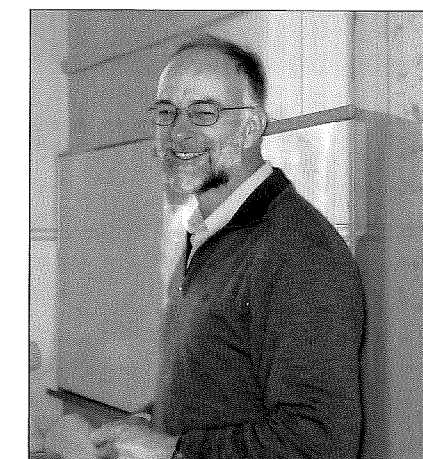

In 2007 many LC students were enrolled in a diverse range of Business and Computing subjects including: Accounting, Economics, Legal Studies, Business Studies, Public Relations, Information Systems, Computer Science, Computing Project, Multimedia, CISCO, as well as VET programs in Business and Information Technology.

In addition to studying Australia's legal and political system, Legal Studies students also visited the courts observing criminal trials and watching the wheels of justice slowly turn.

Accounting and Economics students invested their time immersed in the preparation of financial reports for businesses and understanding the workings of Australia's market economy.

VET Business Students undertook practical work placements in businesses as wide ranging as dental surgeries, insurance companies, schools, home improvements centres, hotels, the building industry and forestry.

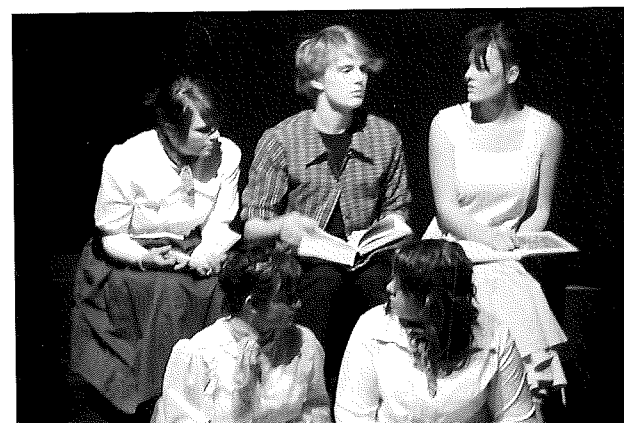

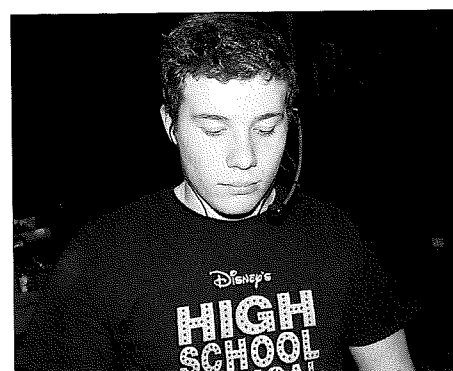

Students in the various computing classes spent their time doing such things as creating computer based games, making animations using Flash software, developing relational data bases, dismantling hardware and generally honing their technical skills in the IT field.

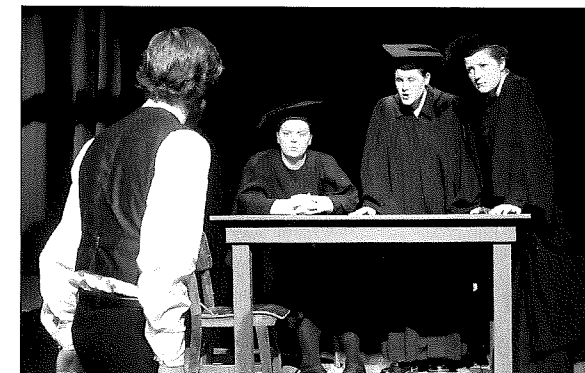

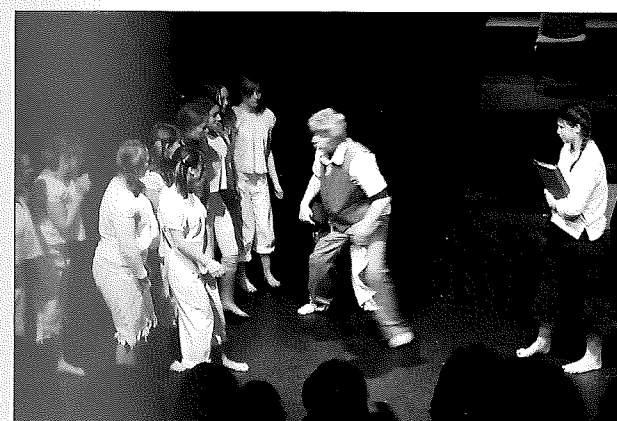

DRAMA

We have had another exciting and eventful year in Drama. At the end of Term One students were very successful at the Launceston Competitions with Justin Groves winning the Chris Cabalzar Medal in the monologue section and taking out the overall best senior performance for the competitions. Jarrad Ennis also won his section in the monologue competition, with Sophie Hart, Nicole Lazdauskas and Jake Baylis also being awarded places. We finished the term with students performing at the Autumn Arts Spectacular at the Earl Arts Centre.

The tech class had an extremely busy time working on High School Musical where they took on leadership roles in a number of departments. Abby Gray excelled in her role as stage manager of the production. Each student had the opportunity to stage manage a show over the year and the students excelled in this area. They have also given up hours of their time to work on a number of projects including Dance Fever. The acquisition of a new lighting board and four moving lights also excited and motivated these students, especially Warrick and Ryan.

DRAMA

Term Two was filled with performances, the highlights being the Theatre Performance production of Spring Awakening at the Annexe Theatre and the Level 5 performance of The Loss of Innocence which was performed at the Earl Arts Centre. This night included a performance of Children of the Black Skirt by the Launceston College Drama Club. The Drama club consisted of Grade 9 and 10 students from local high schools who attended Launceston College on Tuesday nights after school. It was great to work with these students and see their skills and confidence develop.

As this report is being written we are busy preparing for the practical exams, with the performance class preparing to present Ash Girl, a modern take on the Cinderella story. The Level 4 drama class is getting ready to perform their Children's Theatre Peter Pan which has been written by Adam Brooks who is in second year in this course.

We wish all year 12 students who are leaving the best with what ever they choose in to do in life and we congratulate all students on an outstanding year.

Liz Bennett and Nicole Lewis, Drama Teachers

In 2007 the Vet Sport and Recreation class consisted of 12 students, one of those students whom studied Outdoor Recreation Certificate II. The majority of the class studied Sport and Recreation Certificate I. During the year the students have taken part in several community activities associated with the Sport and Recreation Industry. The Vet Sport and Recreation course has given students the opportunity to get a better understanding of sport related path ways. A few of these path ways include Personal Training, P.E teacher, Fitness instructor, Coach, Recreation Officer and also jobs in Sports Retail.

Active After School Program

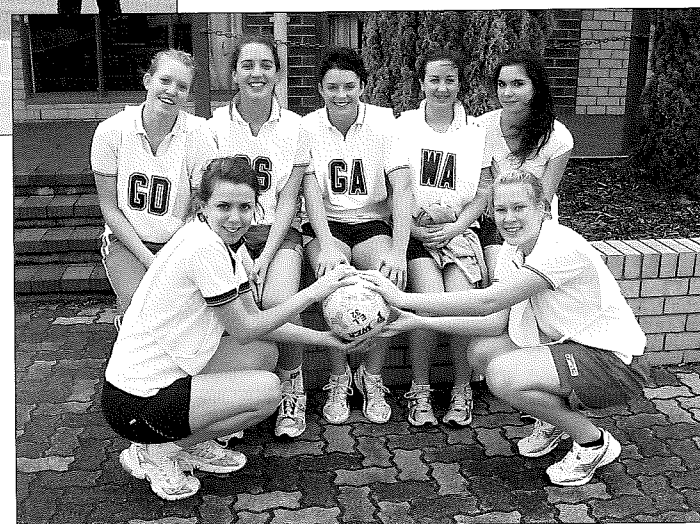

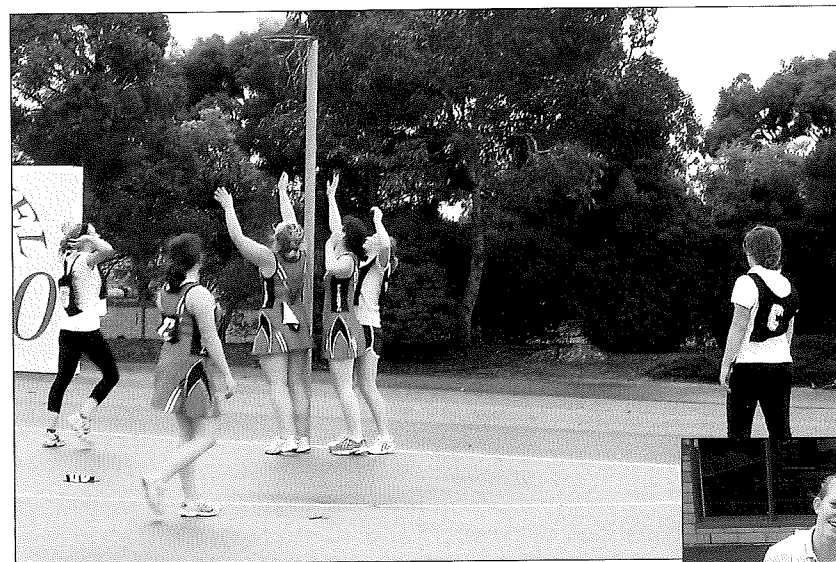

During this first term our VET Sport and Recreation class undertook training in the Active After Schools Program. We then went onto taking sessions at Mayfield Primary School one afternoon per week for 6 weeks with groups of up to 25 children. During our sessions we involved the children in many different sporting activities including Invasion games, Net and Court games, target games and Striking games.

Work Placement

During the year we have been involved in numerous work placements. Work placement is an opportunity to get experience and gain knowledge of different work places. This gives the opportunity to decide what sort of career you would like to pursue in the sport and recreation industry. Some of the industries which we were involved in were, Gyms, schools, retail stores, and sports development organizations such as AFL Tasmania. Work placement is fun and a new experience.

Community Coach Training Course

For two weeks in first term of this year our VET Sport and Recreation class took part in the community coach training program. We were taught skills that enabled us to make sport fun for primary aged students. The purpose of this was to train us up to be active after school sport deliverers, once we passed our certificate we went out to Mayfield primary over 4 weeks and groups of 3-4 and played games with about 20-25. Some of the games included fruit salad, rounders, dodge ball and octopus.

First Aid & SMAC Course

During term 1 we completed our Senior First Aid Workplace 2 certificate. We learnt about CPR, how to treat shock, how to treat bites and stings, how to properly stabilise broken bones, and how to treat strains by using the RICE system (Rest Ice Compression Elevation). We also learnt the proper techniques when bandaging. We also completed our Sports Medicine Awareness Course (SMAC) which involved learning about sports injuries and how to treat them properly.

TASRAD Course and Rostering/Competitions

During VET Sport and Recreation this year we have completed numerous courses, such as a TASRAD course, which specializes in how to further involve people with a disability into a Sport and Recreation session. After completing this course we now feel confident to include people with a disability without drastically altering what would be a normal session.

Also, during the year we covered a unit on rostering and competitions. During this time we were spoken to by a guest speaker, Don Jago. He passed on valuable knowledge with regard to organizing competitions and sporting rosters.

HAIRDRESSING BAR OPERATIONS

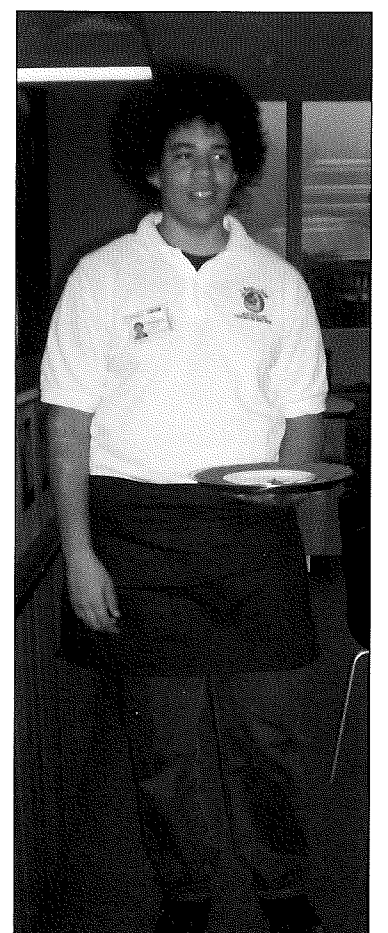

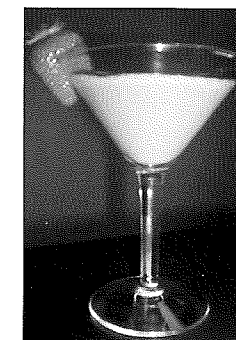

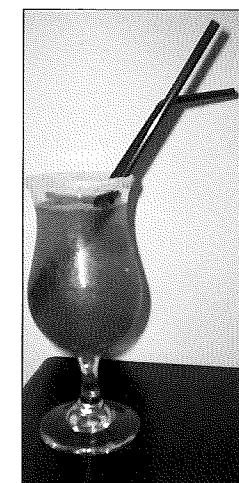

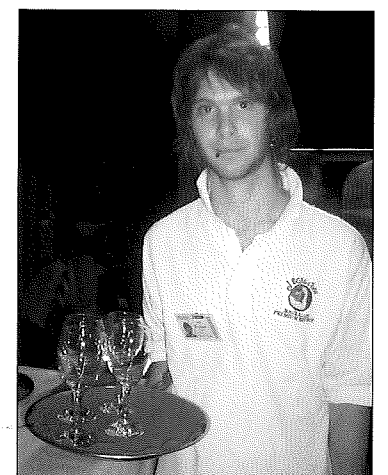

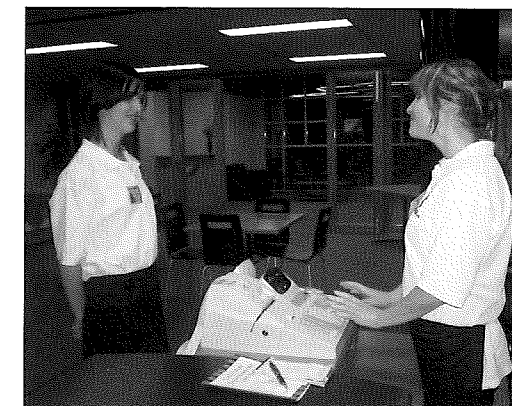

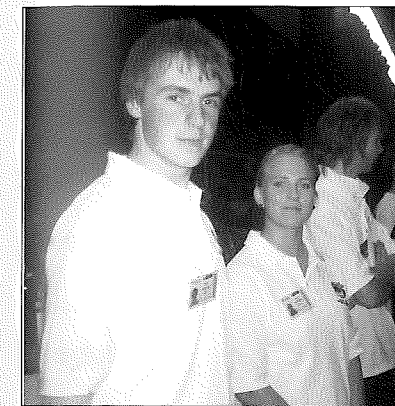

In 2007 eight students successfully completed their Certificate II in Hairdressing through TAFE. Sam Krushka and Teagan Allan have been successful in gaining apprenticeships and will continue with their hairdressing studies in 2008.

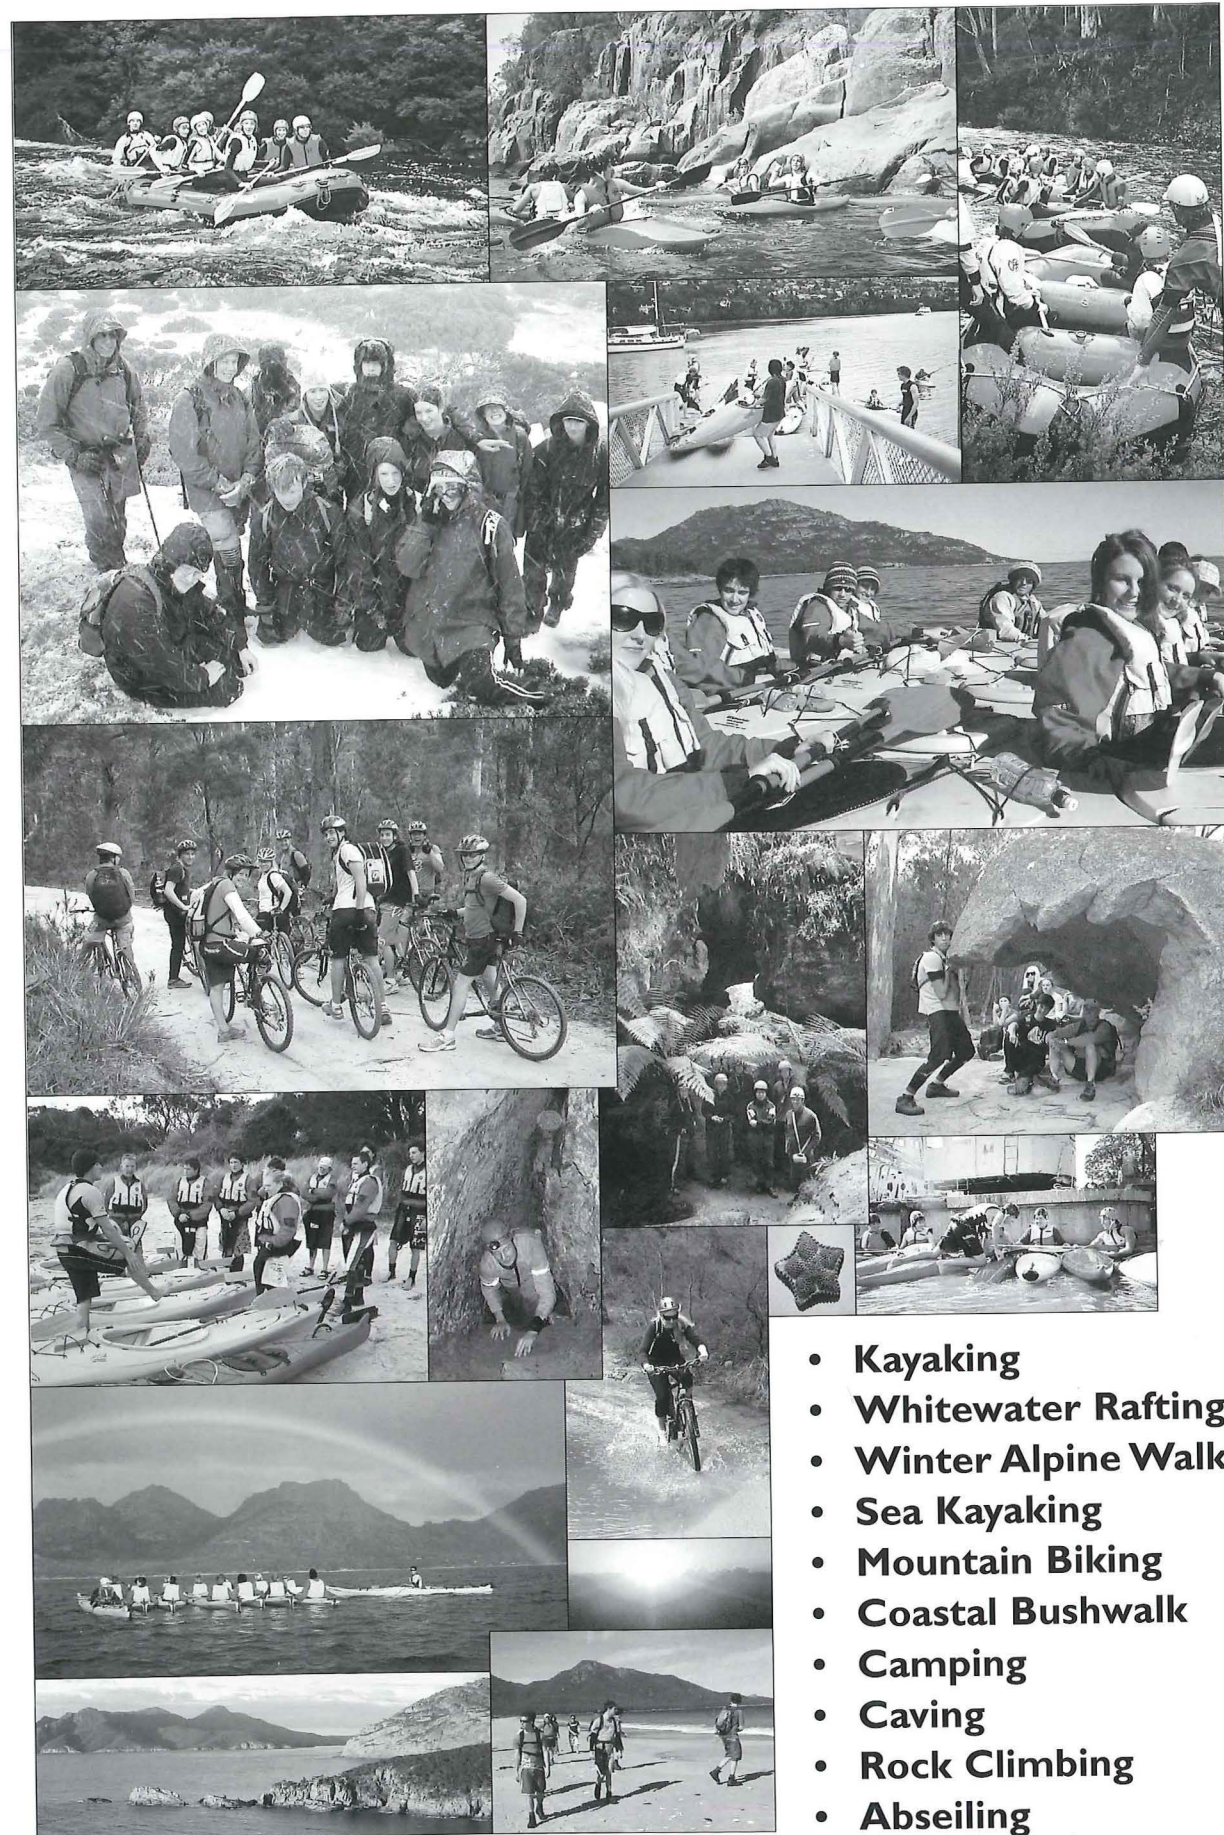

As well as practicing techniques on each other, students treated friends and family members to a display of their newly acquired skills. During the year students completed two work placements in salons and assisted in the hair design and preparation for the school production of "A High School Musical"

Throughout the year eight bar course were completed. The aim of the course is for students to obtain their RSI certificates. Students learnt about the legislation governing this area of hospitality as well as obtaining knowledge about alcohol, its effect on the body and how to drink and serve alcohol responsibly.

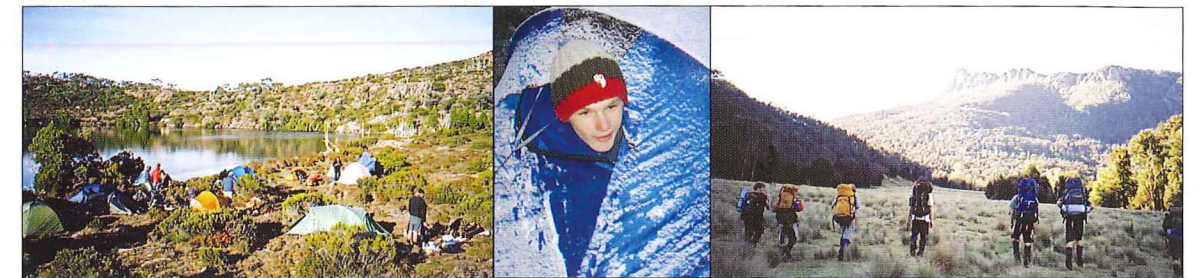

Practical classes and running the open bar on Wednesday and Friday afternoons were always the highlight of the course. Class members had the opportunity to create their own mocktails as well as learning how to tap a barrel, pour a beer and mix cocktails. There were the occasional spills and broken glasses as the art of carry a tray of full glasses was acquired. This seven week course provides an opportunity to gain knowledge and skills that students may utilise when travelling, as a means of income while doing further study or as a full time occupation.

DANCE FEVER

Launceston College's premiere performance of Dance Fever: The Tasmanian School Spectacular was held at The Albert Hall on the 5th and 6th of September. With all 4 shows sold out, the event proved to be a huge success.

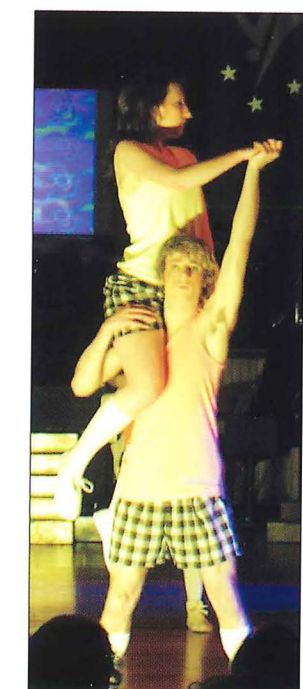

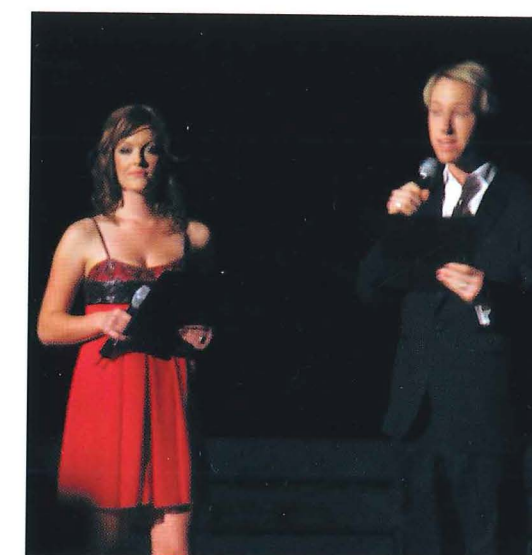

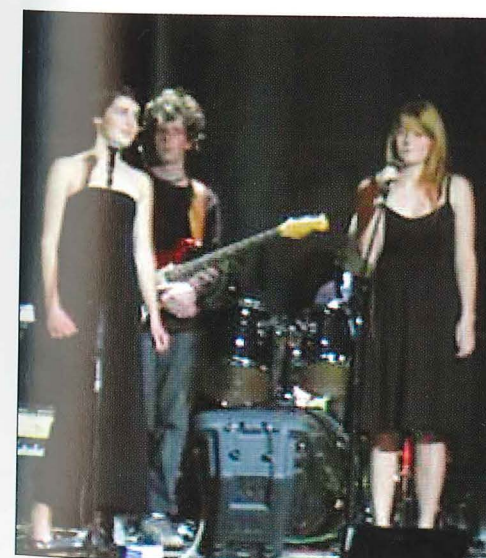

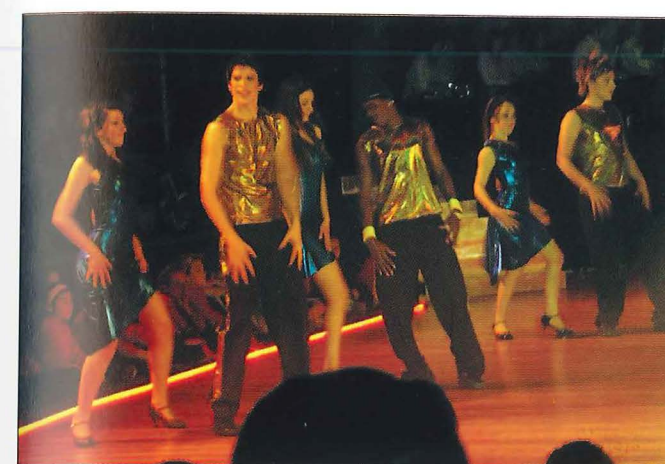

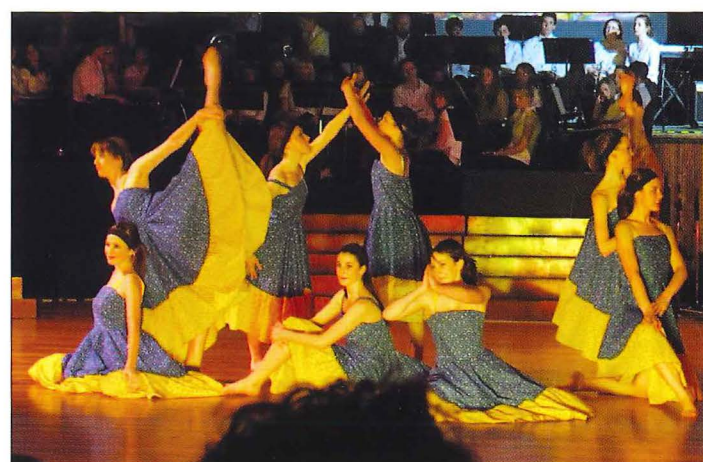

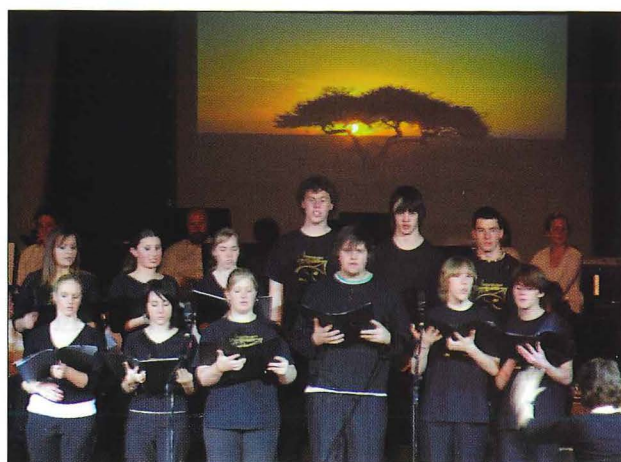

Riverside Primary, Glen Dhu Primary, Perth Primary, West Launceston Primary, St Leonard's Primary, Riverside High, Prospect High and Kings Meadows High all participated in the event with their students joining the Launceston College core dancers in a fantastic floor show. The Esk Band, Launceston College Contemporary Band and Vocal Ensemble provided beautiful music and accompaniment throughout the show.

Over 300 students' participated in the event showcasing dance genres from ballroom to break dancing, ballet, jazz, hip hop, contemporary and disco. Palmer's Dance studio provided their expertise in the ballroom numbers and our students really enjoyed, what was for many, their first foray into partner dancing.

We received a tremendous amount of support from staff, students, parents and sponsors and were proud to be able to run the event in support of Appin Hall children's foundation run by Maggie and Ronnie Burns (who also performed in the show).

Opening night was attended by Minister for Education, Mr David Barlett who, like all audience members, was very impressed by the high calibre of all performers. The show was yet another example of what fantastic opportunities exist for students here at Launceston College.

Computer Graphics and Design focuses on the development of student's ability to present solutions to design challenges using a variety of 3 dimensional modelling and animation software. Computer Graphics students have very recently gained access to the latest version of 3D Studio Max. This software has been used extensively in animated "Hollywood" movies such as "Shrek", and "The Incredibles", as well as for special effects in the more recent James Bond movies, the Harry Potter series, and Jurassic Park.

Luckily as a school, Launceston College and its students can purchase this software for around $200 per licence. The normal commercial price is over $7,000.

This software has the ability to "seamlessly" merge students 3D computer "models" with "real life" scenes.

Early in term one, students were given a design brief which required them to construct a 3 dimensional scene based on a domestic kitchen or a public building foyer. This involved creating individual computer "models" that were then imported into a 3 dimensional space that was constructed using the same software. These scenes could then have a "camera" pass through them so as to create a short 3 dimensional movie. The objective was to create the illusion that the movie was in fact recorded in a real room. While the camera was passing through the room, individual elements could be doing realistic things such as a pot on the stove emitting steam, toast popping out of the toaster, goldfish swimming in an aquarium and so on.

Another task that students were required to do in term one was to create a 3D computer model of an object and place it into a digital photograph so as to make it look as if it were part of the original photo. Callum Collins has done a particularly good job of creating his version of the Mitsubishi "Evo", and placing it onto an image of a runway. Callum is obviously a big "Top Gear" fan.

SEXWISE

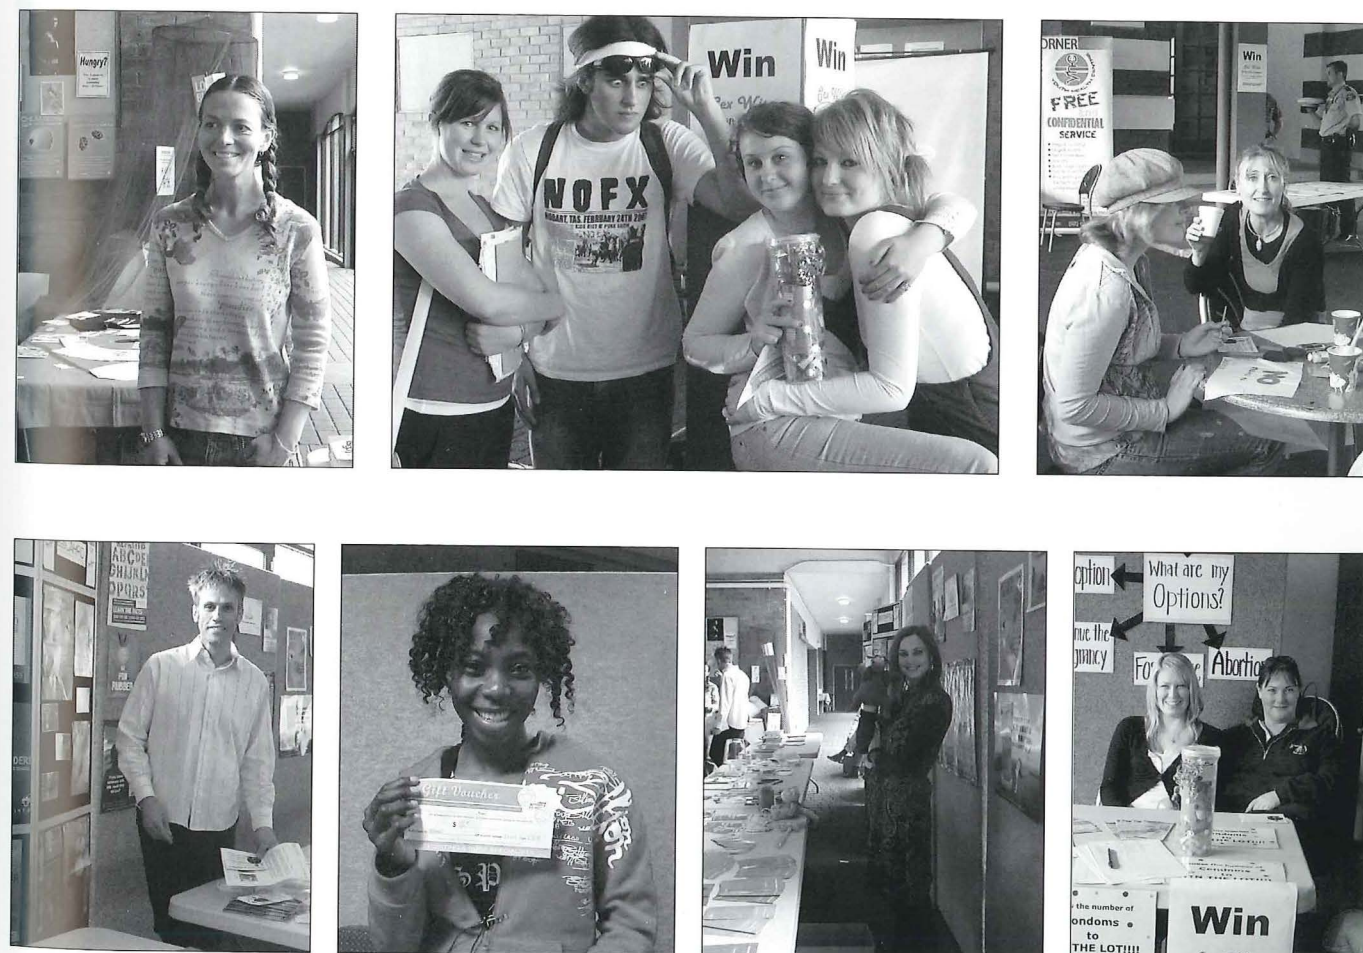

LC's sexual health expo was held on thursday 18th October at The Undercroft and was a great chance for students to:

- Understand what we mean by good sexual and reproductive health,
- Explore a range of life choices
- Access honest, up-to-date information
- Talk to specialist services who aren't embarrassed about sex, sexual health and relationship issues
- Get to know the agencies available in the community for when they might need help and information.

Sex Wise was a voluntary activity offered by the Student Support Team at LC, as part of our pastoral care program. Participation was NOT compulasary, but heaps of people turned up and took part.

Participating agencies were:

Family Planning Tasmania + Sexual Health + Working It Out + TASCAHRD + Relationships Australia + The Corner Health Youth Centre ≠ Laurel House + LC Student Support Team.

ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM INTER-COLLEGE DAY

During the year in Athlete Development students have been involved in strength/weight work in the college's Weight Gymnasium. Fitness was improved through activities such as regular running swimming and agility work. As a supplement to fitness work, students were taken to the main commercial fitness gymnasiums in Launceston. The purchase of new mountain bikes also assisted many students with fitness work using alternate training methods.

A number of students were able to engage in more intensive technical training session with coaches in their respective sports.

The school's swimming pool has helped athletes with recovery and injury rehabilitation during the year.

The following ADP students have excelled in their sports this year and have been successful in representing Tasmania at national events.
